Hi CzesioPL,

here we go with properly linked pic/vid.

Regarding the problem you are describing, I would certainly approach an authorized dealer/workshop. The pic was shot while the car was standing - just imagine this would happen during a highspeed drive and have some kind of impact on any electronic device effecting drivability and/or safety.

Good luck - please report on the findings.

PS: Welcome to the forum!

PPS: Greetings to Poland, hope to be there later this year for some Offroading again - Szczecinek here we come!
