Dear Stef.

I got the car since 8 weeks now and drove aprox. 7.500 km. No problems with the car but the engine is really not strong enough to move this car in the way you expect.

You can do what I do - buy a R5 and exchange it as soon as the V6 is available. The market for the Touaregs are pretty good - so there is no risk.

My dealer expects aprox. 2 days to resell the R5. Because this is a kind of "upgrade" Volkswagen as well as the Volkswagen leasing don't makes any trouble.

So long

Hey Playpingiron,

And did you have the chiptuning done on your car?

I would be using the car daily and I drive around 150 - 300 km a day.

I am thinking of buying the R5 and do a chiptuning on it by VW themselves. The only disadvantage is the price at VW's a lot more expensive that the amounts I see on this site here. It would cost me around 1.300 €.

Greets,

Stef.
