

Frage an die Profis

Beitrag von „spockcat“ vom 11. Juni 2004 um 02:37

As usual, sorry for the English.

#1 Are you saying that you switch off the Tagesfahrlicht in the comfort menu but the Tagesfahrlicht still remains on?

#2 If you switch to sport mode before 125 km/h the car will announce in the MFI that it is lowering itself. But if you switch to sport mode AFTER 125 km/h, then the car only announces that the shock absorbers are being set to sport mode. There is no announcement about lowering. This is how you can tell that your car has already lowered itself above 125 km/h.

#3 Oliver are you sure of this? I think that with the VAGCOM you can read the channels for the sensors. I have to study this more to be sure though.

#4 In the US we have had no complaints about leaking rear windows.