

Shadowblue + Sonnenbeige

Beitrag von „Stef“ vom 9. August 2004 um 13:52

Zitat von Hagen

Stef, Du liebst zu scherzen, hm!???

Nivea Creme fürs Leder? Dann riecht der Wagen nach nach Baby-Po. 😊

It works very well. I also didn't believe it the first time my friend told me to use Nivea, but after a while I did do it. I already use it on my 5th car now. I sold one of our cars last week and the buyer (a car handler) couldn't believe it still were the first leather seats in the car, he thought we had new seats mounted. The car was a 1996 with 380.000 km on it and the leather was in perfect condition !! It's because of this that I got it sold at a high price, because I had the engine blown up in the mountains in France.

Also my leather in my Cabrio has always been cleaned with the Nivea and the seats (clear beige interior) looked very nice after 2 years driving it and 67.800 km on it (also sold the car, hoping my T-reg was coming sooner, but still have to wait until November/December).